Rethinking Centre Street: A Film and Panel Discussion

Moderated by NNN anchor, Chris Lovett

Panel includes: Jane Holtz Kay, Jeffrey L. Rosenblum and Tony Dutzik

Date: September, 27, 2007

Time: 7:30-9:30

Place: Connolly Branch Library – Auditorium
433 Centre Street, Boston (Jamaica Plain), MA 02130

Join us for a showing of the film “Contested Streets” followed by a panel discussion with three nationally respected professionals in the fields of transportation, environment, and public policy.

“Contested Streets” examines the evolution of our streets as public spaces to their current-day use, which prioritizes the rapid movement of automobiles over all other functions.

Providing insight on the film and what residents of Boston can do to improve our urban environment are panelists:

Jane Holtz Kay (journalist and author of Asphalt Nation)

Jeffrey L. Rosenblum (environmental consultant and Executive Director of LivableStreets Alliance)

Tony Dutzik (author and Senior Policy Analyst with the Frontier Group)

The event will moderated by Neighborhood Network News Anchor and News Director Chris Lovett.
